

A Cancer Center Designated by the National Cancer Institute

On July 29, 2019, with the assistance from the funds The Pap Corps raised for cancer research, Sylvester Comprehensive Cancer Center was awarded the very prestigious NCI designation as the National Cancer Institute's only highly selected cancer center in South Florida and one of a small group of the very best cancer center in the United States.

Besides Sylvester, Memorial Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center, Mayo Clinic Cancer Center, Yale Cancer Center and MD Anderson Cancer Center, to name a few, are also part of this prestigious NCI group. These NCI designated cancer centers are recognized for their scientific leadership in laboratory and clinical research, in addition to serving their communities and the broader public by integrating training and education for biomedical researchers and health care professionals.

Sylvester's excellence in treating cancer is recognized by the state of Florida by the state presenting them with their highly selective performance-based Cancer Center of Excellence award.

Sylvester received an award from U.S. New & World Report as one of the best cancer centers in the United States and the only cancer center they recognized in South Florida.
